

University Gambling Research Study seeks Heavy or Problem Gamblers

R80-R200 FOR ANSWERING QUESTIONS

During the past year have you...

- thought that you may have a gambling problem?
- had it suggested by someone you know that you may have a gambling problem?
- gambled frequently, and more than most people you know?
- gambled more frequently with more money than you intended?

Then you could be a prospective subject for a scientific study being conducted by researchers at the University of Cape Town and the University of KwaZulu-Natal. The study involves no hardship other than an hour or two of your time, plus possible transport time to and from the interview site in your city. Your transport expenses will be paid, and in addition you will earn a minimum of R80 and a maximum of R200 for your participation. All data about you collected by the researchers will be kept strictly confidential. The purpose of this study is to learn more about heavy gamblers, in ultimate hopes of understanding better how to reduce the suffering of problem gamblers and their families.

All respondents should reside within 90kms of either Cape Town or Durban, and must be 18 years or older.

Prospective subjects should contact:
